

Companies Hiring Open Source Developers with JavaScript/TypeScript Focus

Mozilla

Mozilla is known for its commitment to open-source projects, including Firefox and other web technologies. They value open-source contributions and focus on JavaScript heavily.

Website: <https://www.mozilla.org>

Careers: <https://careers.mozilla.org>

GitHub: <https://github.com/mozilla>

GitHub

As a hub for open-source, GitHub often recruits developers active in the community. They work with technologies like TypeScript and encourage contributions to the ecosystem.

Website: <https://github.com>

Careers: <https://github.com/about/careers>

GitHub Repositories: <https://github.com/github>

Microsoft

Microsoft has invested heavily in open-source, especially with projects like VS Code (built with TypeScript) and the TypeScript language itself. They frequently hire developers with open-source experience.

Website: <https://www.microsoft.com>

Careers: <https://careers.microsoft.com>

GitHub: <https://github.com/microsoft>

Google

Google maintains several open-source JavaScript/TypeScript projects, such as Angular and TensorFlow.js, and supports contributions. They hire talented developers with open-source experience.

Website: <https://www.google.com>

Careers: <https://careers.google.com>

GitHub: <https://github.com/google>

Shopify

This e-commerce giant is known for using and contributing to open-source projects, especially in JavaScript and TypeScript. They often hire developers with strong open-source portfolios.

Website: <https://www.shopify.com>

Careers: <https://www.shopify.com/careers>

GitHub: <https://github.com/Shopify>

Elastic

Known for Elasticsearch, Elastic has a big open-source presence and is a good option for developers with experience in JavaScript.

Website: <https://www.elastic.co>

Careers: <https://www.elastic.co/careers>

GitHub: <https://github.com/elastic>

Meta (Facebook)

Meta is behind popular JavaScript projects like React and React Native and has a strong open-source presence. They value contributions and hire based on open-source work.

Website: <https://about.fb.com>

Careers: <https://www.metacareers.com>

GitHub: <https://github.com/facebook>

Automattic

The company behind WordPress, Automattic relies heavily on JavaScript and has open-source roots. They often look for remote developers passionate about open-source.

Website: <https://automattic.com>

Careers: <https://automattic.com/work-with-us/>

GitHub: <https://github.com/Automattic>